

NAB TWO ROBBERY SUSPECTS

Today

Governor Smith Tells You. He Is Against Prohibition. Our Prosperity Is False. So Is Coolidge Economy.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review.)

SEVENTY MILLIONS on the radio heard Gov. Smith talking plain English which every one should be able to understand. He believes government exists for the people. "An elect class should not be the special object of the government's concern," Richard Rumbold put it nearly 300 years ago. "I never could believe that Providence had sent a few men into the world, ready booted and spurred to ride, and millions ready saddled and bridled to be ridden." They beheaded Rumbold in 1695.

GOV. SMITH wants the Democratic party to give all "equal opportunity." He agrees with Napoleon, whose motto was, "Careers open to talent."

GOV. SMITH praises Grover Cleveland for originating "one of the Democratic party's greatest principles, 'Public office is a public trust.'" The Romans said it first. Salus populi suprema lex esto and that's the motto of the state of Missouri now.

Grover Cleveland's "rugged honesty" Gov. Smith contrasts with "the widespread dishonesty that has honey-combed the Republican administration."

THE Governor finds "four million men desirous to work and support their families unable to secure employment," and doesn't think much of alleged Republican prosperity.

And the Republican party really isn't economical. The Governor gives figures to prove it.

President Coolidge, for the last year signed appropriation bills exceeding by $500,000,000 those of the first year of his administration.

Coolidge economy, you are told, is a myth; taxes have not been reduced in volume, although tax rates have been reduced. Last year the government took $383,000,000 more in income tax than it took in Coolidge's first year. The President would reply "that is because the people are earning more. The Republicans did it."

GOV. SMITH is for tariff protection of American industries and wages where it is needed. He would do it well, not badly, as Republicans do.

PRaising Woodrow Wilson, Gov. Smith says: "At the end of his administration we enjoyed the friendship and respectful admiration of the people of the world," and we don't today. Hoover would reply, "Yes, but President Wilson was busy shoveling out United States money handing it in billions to Europe. No wonder they loved him. We are trying to collect the money. No wonder they hate us."

GOV. SMITH favors the Monroe doctrine, but thinks Republicans make it a pretext for bullying smaller countries. He would not do that. As for war, it must be outlawed "by a more substantial endeavor to remove the cause of war, and in this endeavor the Republican administration has signally failed."

"Freedom from entangling alliances is a fixed American policy." Ninety per cent of Americans not engaged in international banking would say amen to that line of the Smith speech.

GOV. SMITH looks upon agriculture as "essentially a public function, affected with a clear and unquestionable public interest. He favors helping the farmers and gives figures to show what has happened to them lately, including a decrease of $20,000,000 in (Continued on Page 8, Column 2)

TWELVE SEEK CITY POSITION

Mayor Expected to Name Street Commissioner.

Twelve candidates for appointment as street commissioner to succeed William Hutchinson, acting commissioner, took civil service examination in municipal court room Wednesday night. Mayor Ralph C. Benedum, who was out of the city today, is expected to announce his appointee upon his return.

Twelve applicants who took the civil service examination were: George W. McCullough, Martin T. McLaughlin, Oliver Buzzard, Charles Shienbach, James A. Clunk, Rowland Buzzard, Arthur Welch, William C. Hutchinson, Patrick Quinn, Kelsey Johnson, James R. Kidder and Joseph J. Duke.

William Hutchinson is serving as acting commissioner following the resignation of Clyde F. Goodball, who was also acting commissioner. Goodball was appointed by Mayor Benedum when he removed Oliver Buzzard from the post for leaving the city without permission. Mayor Benedum appointed Hutchinson last Monday to serve until a regular appointee is named. Salary of $1,980 a year is attached to the post of street commissioner.

TWO TAX ISSUES GO BEFORE VOTERS

HOSPITAL AND PENSION FUND PROPOSALS TO BE SUBMITTED

Hospital Asks .75 Mills for Maintenance and Equipment.

FIVE YEAR TERM

One Tenth of One Mill Needed for Police Pension.

Two taxation issues calling for additional levies will be placed before East Liverpool voters at the November election.

Legislation calling for the submission of a .75 mill issue for the maintenance, repair and equipment for the City hospital has already been approved by council while another issue calling for levies of one tenth of one mill each for proposed police and firemen's pension funds will in all probability be adopted at the next regular meeting of the city council. The ordinance committee has been ordered to bring in a resolution submitting the pension fund levy to the voters in November, at the next regular meeting of council.

The hospital levy is urged by the hospital board of trustees, who claim to be handicapped for funds for maintenance and repair of the building and for new equipment. Based upon a valuation of $2,000,000, this levy will bring approximately $24,000 per year into the hospital treasury.

The proposed levy of one-tenth of one mill for the police pension fund and the same amount for the firemen's pension fund will bring in about $3,200 to each fund. The police and fire departments have a fund of approximately $2,400 now which was raised from benefit concerts and shows.

Council is vested with authority to establish a special levy for the maintenance of police and firemen's pension funds without a vote of the electors. However in order to secure an expression from the taxpayers the proposal will be submitted to a vote, according to spokesmen of the municipal legislators.

Both of the proposed levies will remain in effect for a period of five years, when they must be renewed either by a vote of the people or be dropped from the tax rate. The hospital levy must receive a 55 per cent vote in order to be approved while the police pension fund, it is claimed, will merely require a majority.

At a special meeting of council held in the office of Councilman T. P. Ferguson, Wednesday night, a resolution ordering the Ohio Power company to "make alterations to its pole lines and equipment in Ohio avenue," was passed on three readings under suspension of the rules. The change was ordered in order to permit A. L. Pugh of the East Liverpool Cement Block company to erect a boom and electric derrick on the site of his new factory at the intersection of Ohio avenue and the River road.

City Solicitor Frank Hoover has instructed to write the National Board of Fire Underwriters with a view toward securing a reduction in fire insurance rates in East Liverpool. This board, about a year ago, recommended improvements to the fire department with the understanding that insurance rates would be readjusted after these changes were made. Many of these improvements, it is claimed, have already been completed with and no reduction in fire rates has been announced. Most important among these changes officials claim was the addition of 15 men to the fire department and the purchase of additional fire fighting equipment.

CAR OVERTURNS AT GILMORE'S STOP

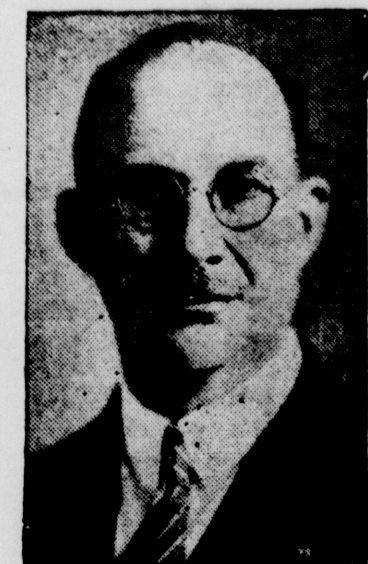

Two passengers and the driver, Steve Mangus, Steubenville, escaped injury yesterday afternoon, when a large sedan was overturned and badly damaged as result of a tire blowout on the Lincoln highway near Gilmore's stop.

Mangus, who was enroute to Youngstown to close a business deal, declared the car was traveling at a speed of 50 miles an hour when a tire burst, overturning the machine against an embankment at the side of the highway.

BELIEVE OHIO MINES WILL BE REOPENED SOON

Agreement of $5 Per Day Ratified at Columbus.

14 MINES AFFECTED

Operators and Miners to Make Study of Industry.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 24.—Union mine workers throughout the state looked forward eagerly today to the early resumption of coal mining operations following the action of a joint conference of union officials and mine owners in ratifying a wage agreement here late yesterday.

This agreement provides a basis wage scale of $5 per day for drivers and 70 cents per ton for cutting loading as forecast by the International News Service yesterday.

About 14 mines with a personnel of approximately 3,500 miners are affected by the new pact which dates from Sept. 1, next, and terminates March 1, 1930.

Although the number of mines thus affected is proportionately small, hope was expressed by union officials and members of the Central Ohio Coal Operators' association, that the scale agreed to would prove acceptable to other Ohio operators.

While stating that the agreement was not entirely satisfactory to the miners, Lee Hall, president of Ohio district No. 6, United Mine Workers of America, declared "it was the best that could be done." Hall expressed himself as highly pleased that the agreement "re-establishes the principle of collective bargaining in the district and will help toward restoring the coal industry in Ohio."

William Haskins, representing the central Ohio operators, said the agreement represented an effort by the operators "to do what we can to obtain peace and to help put the industry back on its feet."

LAUNCH SEARCH FOR TWO AIRMEN

Plane Sighted Near Fiskonaesset Early Sunday.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 24.—Hope for the safety of Bert Hascall and Parker Cramer, American aviators who became lost while attempting a flight from the United States to Stockholm in the plane Greater Rockford, rose today with investigation into a report that the men's plane had been sighted over Fiskonaesset and Lichtenfels between 10 and 11 o'clock on Sunday morning.

Search parties are proceeding with all possible speed to the isolated section of Greenland where the men are presumed to have come down. Owing to the lack of transportation facilities it was expected that it would be from 24 to 48 hours before any definite news was received.

Residents of the two villages said they plainly saw the machine which was flying low and evidently was searching for a landing place. As no other airplane was known to be in the region, it was assumed that the machine was the Greater Rockford.

GUBERNATORIAL NOMINEE LAUDS AL SMITH AT STATE MEETING

Martin Davy Sounds Keynote at Democratic Convention.

HITS LEGISLATURE

Pledges "Honest Law Enforcement" if Elected.

BY C. H. HADDOX.

(In N. S. Staff Correspondent.) COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 24.—Eulogizing Gov. Alfred E. Smith, of New York, and U. S. Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, Democratic nominees for president and vice president of the United States, stating his

DONAHEY WILL SUPPORT TICKET

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 24.—Governor Vic Donahey's hearty congratulations and pledge of support for the "entire Democratic ticket, from top to bottom" has been conveyed by Donahey to Congressman Martin L. Davey, Kent, Democratic nominee for governor, it was announced here today.

"Permit me to congratulate you on your nomination for the office of governor," Donahey's communication to Davey read.

You and the entire Democratic ticket from top to bottom has my hearty support and cooperation in your approaching campaign," Donahey declared.

Governor Donahey reviewed Ohio National Guard troops today at Camp Perry and was unable to attend the Democratic state convention.

personal position on law enforcement and farm relief, and predicting Democratic victory, national and state, this fall, Congressman Martin L. Davey, Kent, Democratic candidate for governor of Ohio, delivered the keynote address this afternoon at the Democratic state convention.

Designating Smith and Robinson as "two great leaders," Davey declared that Governor Smith "represents the genius of America in his courageous climb from an exceedingly humble origin to a high place in his own state and in the esteem of the nation." Referring to Senator Robinson, Davey said "his humble origin makes his rise to fame and power all the more notable."

"I am definitely and sincerely interested in the problem of honest law enforcement," said Davey. "I stand now, and propose to stand as governor of Ohio, without qualification, for honest, straightforward and determined law enforcement against the professional law breaking class."

Declaring that he will undertake to be "a true and useful friend to agriculture," Davey said the time has arrived for reversing "the extravagant policy of expansion" in national and state governmental operations. He promised to "speed up the public service in the interests of the people" and guaranteed to labor "a sympathetic and helpful attitude," and to business "a square deal."

Accusing the legislature with having been "drunk with power," Davey said the solemnly thwarted "the splendid effort made by Governor Donahey to serve the people and to save them from unjust and unwise legislation." Asserting that Ohio has been "alto-

Judge Billingsley Dies Early Today

Former Judge of Common Pleas Court and Widely Known Lisbon Attorney Succumbs at Cambridge Springs.

Nathan B. Billingsley, 78, former judge of the Columbiana county common pleas court and one of Columbiana county's leading attorneys, died at Cambridge Springs, Pa., at 3 o'clock this morning, from an attack of heart disease.

Judge Billingsley went to Cambridge Springs last Tuesday for a few days rest, his death coming suddenly. The body will be returned to Lisbon today, funeral services being held at 3:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Burial will be made in the Lisbon cemetery.

English Nurse Swims Channel. DOVER, England, Aug. 24.—Miss Hilda Sharp, a 17-year-old London nurse maid, came ashore at Shaker's cliff near here at 3:32 p. m. today, having swum the English channel from Cape Griz Nez, France. She entered the water on the French coast at 12:30 a. m.

Judge Billingsley, the son of John Wesley Billingsley and Lydia Bayless Billingsley, was born on his father's farm in Middleton township, October 9, 1850.

He was educated in the schools of his native township, Lisbon high school and Mt. Union college, from which he obtained the degree of bachelor of arts. During the winter season of the time he was in college he taught in the township and village schools of the county.

He studied law with Jonathan H. Wallace at Lisbon, and was admitted to the bar of Ohio Sept. 24, 1873, and to the bar of the supreme court of the United States in January, 1876.

On June 1, 1874, Mr. Billingsley formed a partnership with his preceptor for the practice of law at Lisbon. This partnership with the exception of a short time Mr. Wallace was judge of the court of common pleas, continued until the death of Judge Wallace October 20, 1892.

In 1895 Robert W. Taylor, who was afterwards a member of congress and United States district judge, was admitted to the firm, and the firm became Wallace, Billingsley & Taylor.

After the death of Judge Wallace, the firm became Billingsley & Taylor, and so continued until April 25, 1893, when Mr. Billingsley was appointed by Governor William McKinley judge of the court of common pleas of the first sub-district of the ninth judicial district of Ohio to succeed William A. Nichols, who died April 16, 1893.

At the November election, 1893, he was elected for the residue of the term of Judge Nichols and in November 1894 was elected for a full term.

He resigned the Judgeship Nov. 5, 1895, and the firm of Billingsley, Taylor and Clark was organized, and this firm continued in practice of law until a short time before the appointment of Mr. Taylor as judge of the Federal Court for the northern district of Ohio, when the firm became Billingsley, Clark and DeFord. Later the firm was Billingsley, Clark and

CHARGE EAST END YOUTHS WITH LOOTING GAS STATION

Dana Brookes and Herbert Southall Held for Grand Jury.

BONDS ARE $1,000

Brookes Tells Police Where Loot is Hidden.

Two East Liverpool men, one of whom confessed to looting Wednesday night of the Reed service station in Pennsylvania and Harker avenues, implicating the second suspect, were bound over to the grand jury under $1,000 bail when they appeared before Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley today on charges of breaking and entering.

Use Southall Auto.

Dana Brooks, 23, was arrested by Captain Mason Conley yesterday afternoon in East End. After questioning Brooks, Captain Conley, accompanied by Patrolmen Richards and Kidder, took Herbert Southall, 36, into custody at his home in Klondyke. Southall's automobile was used in the robbery, police say.

In his confession of the robbery, which implicated Southall, young Brooks told police he would reveal the hiding place of the loot.

Harry Reed, proprietor of the station, today estimated the value of tobacco and tube patching taken from his place from $30 to $40.

Both men were remanded to jail in default of bail for release.

FESS SAYS FOUR STATES DOUBTFUL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Missouri, Wisconsin, Montana, and Nevada will be the chief battlegrounds in the west of this year's presidential campaign. Thus said Senator Fess (R) of Ohio, today, as he departed for home to conduct an active Hoover campaign there.

These are the only western states in which he conceded the Democrats a chance.

He predicted the so-called solid south would remain Democratic "but that doesn't include the border states of Tennessee, Kentucky, and Oklahoma, which I think he will carry," he declared.

JUDGE ORDERS BOND FORFEITED

T. P. Robinson, arrested in East End last night by Patrolman John Richards, on charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated, forfeited $50 bond when he failed to appear in the office of Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley today.

Harry Anderson, 211 Walnut street, was fined $2 for parking in violation of municipal ordinance.

SECRETARY WILL SIGN TREATY

Kellogg Reaches Paris on Peace Mission.

PARIS, Aug. 24.—Frank B. Kellogg, American secretary of state, who came to France to sign the treaty outlawing war, arrived here today from Havre at 10 o'clock. The American diplomat was met at the station by representatives of the French government.

Myron T. Herrick, the United States ambassador, accompanied the French officials to the railway station to meet Secretary Kellogg. The secretary had luncheon with the ambassador after which he paid an informal call upon the French foreign secretary, Aristide Briand, later in the afternoon the foreign minister returned the visit.

During the trip to this city from Havre Secretary Kellogg received representatives of the press when he spoke of his plans for visiting Ireland.

"I have been in Europe many times and was even the American ambassador to England, but I never visited Ireland," said Mr. Kellogg. "That is a visit I am looking forward to with a great deal of pleasure."

SIX CONVICTS MAKE GETAWAY

Sheriff Tope Asked to be on Lookout for Prisoners.

Circulars received at the office of Sheriff Alfred Tope from the executive offices of the state prison at Moundsville reveal that within a period of five days a total of six state convicts escaped, and so far as can be learned none of the sextet have been caught. One man was a life termer.

Two escaped Tuesday, August 14, two more on Thursday, August 16 and another pair braved serious injury and possible death by leaping to liberty from a train near Parkersburg on Saturday, August 18.

A circular describing the pair escaping from the train near Parkersburg reveals that Frank Vannetter, previously said to have been aged 33 years, is a mere youth. Although he is only 20 years old, he has a former criminal record, having served one term in the state prison for burglary. At the time he was received he was aged 16, and that the date of his arrival for his first visit to the penal institution was four years ago.

Statistics on Vannetter describe him as weighing 160 pounds, and being nearly six feet tall. He was sent up from Logan county to serve two years for grand larceny. His father is Rube Vannetter, of Mount Gay, W. Va. He has light brown hair, blue eyes, fair complexion, and has a dancing girl figure tattooed on his inner right forearm.

Frank Hall, 35, who escaped with Vannetter, is generally described as being five feet, ten inches tall, weighs 180 pounds, has auburn hair, blue eyes and fair complexion. He was sent up from Logan county for moonshining.

One lifetermer was included in the six who escaped last week. He was Thomas Good, sent up from Preston county in February, 1921, for murder. He is minus his left eye, is of dark complexion, and has a black mustache. Good, a trusty, walked away from the prison while on an errand about the yard, and has not been seen since. It was reported that he had been captured last week at Oakland, Md., but when the guard arrived there to bring him back, it was found another man had been locked up.

Walter Crewe, received on April 30, 1928, from Mercer county to serve three years for breaking and entering, escaped from the state prison farm on August 14. He is aged 25 years, weighs 154 pounds, is five feet, eight inches tall, has dark brown hair, dark grey eyes, and his right arm is crooked at the wrist as the result of an old gunshot wound. His wife lives at Dunns, W. Va.

Berline Starcher, sent up April 29, 1928, from Calhoun county to serve two years for breaking and entering, and Charley Hamilton, received April 5, 1928, from Harrison county to serve two years for breaking and entering, escaped from the state prison farm on the night of Thursday, August 14.

Starcher is aged 29 years, weighs 122 pounds, five feet, six inches tall, blond hair, blue eyes, white complexion ruddy. He has a sister residing at Arnoldsburg, W. Va.

Hamilton is aged 26 years, weighs 125 pounds, five feet, three inches tall, light brown hair, grey eyes, medium fair complexion, and is a native of Idaho. His wife resides at Mount Clair, W. Va.

Mrs. Springer Hostess.
Mrs. Harry Springer was hostess to members of the Women's Missionary society of the First Methodist Episcopal church last night at her home in Indiana avenue.

A presidential election year, more than any other, perhaps, ought to convince Republicans of the nation that the best way for them to vote is to mark their ballots to elect the entire ticket.

The American form of government depends for its success in operation upon two strongly opposed political parties. This plan insures that the party in power must act for the best interest of the people, else at the next election it would be removed from control.

The only catch to this system is when the control of the government is divided in the executive and the legislative branches between the two parties. In such instances, bickering and disputes arise and continue while the public at large suffers. At such a time the accomplishments of an administration dwindle into insignificance.

American voters should realize that if they wish to secure a government which produces beneficial results they must give the control of government to a harmonious group which can work together. Good government depends entirely upon party responsibility.

To make this a sane and logical course to follow the Republican party from the head of its ticket, Herbert Hoover, down through the list of national, state and county offices, offers a list of candidates who have been chosen on merit and service as the best the party can offer. These men are the choice of a party which from its founding in 1854 has had no other principle than to administer to the needs of the American people.

To maintain this policy of public service for the next few years, the Republican party offers to the citizens of America, and Ohio, and Columbiana county, these candidates, selected by the free will of a majority of its members.

There are Senator Simeon Fess and former Senator Theodore Burton, both recognized as two of the most able statesmen in the nation. Fess is spokesman of the Coolidge policies and Burton has a record of public service that is without superiority. They are Ohio's senatorial candidates.

There is Myers J. Cooper, successful business man on a large scale, and an authority on the American home and church. Republicans place him forward for the governorship of Ohio.

There is John T. Brown, capable legislator in the Ohio assembly. Republicans back his candidacy for lieutenant-governor.

There are Clarence J. Brown, Joseph T. Tracy, and Bert B. Buckley, all now performing their duties well in the offices of secretary, auditor, and treasurer of state, respectively. Republicans because of their service in the past again chose them to fill the offices they hold.

There is Gilbert Bettman, an outstanding lawyer with a brilliant war record. Republicans would have him attorney general of Ohio.

There are Judges Robert H. Day and Frank W. Geiger, the former now a member of the Ohio supreme court, and the latter long known in Springfield as a just judge. These two the Republican presents for the supreme bench of Ohio.

These, then, are the candidates offered by the Republican party to the voters as worthy and qualified to hold the office they seek. If elected these men will be placed in positions which will make them responsible for their actions both to the electorate and to the Republican party.

And The Vote Turned Out

Nominations by primary, not only in Ohio, but elsewhere throughout the country, always have seemed to be selections made by a minority, rather than by a majority. This was due, of course, to the lamentable fact that the people refused to bestir themselves.

At the state-wide primary the other day, however, the lethargy which has seemed to envelop Ohio voters was thrown off and there was an outpouring of men and women to the polls which not only surprised election officials, but swamped the election machinery, showing up the count and making it doubly necessary to be absolutely accurate in tabulations.

What does this outpouring of voters indicate? Does it mean an awakening of the public to its citizenship duties? In a way, yes. But on the other hand, as the conditions are viewed by those in a position to know, it would seem that the approaching presidential election, with its manifold issues, has served finally to shake off the soporific which has deened the public to its electoral duties.

If the primary outpouring is any indication whatever of the interest in the forthcoming presidential election, then Ohio is going to vote heavier in November than was the case four years ago. And if the same ratio is carried out elsewhere in the nation—as it was in Indiana—then there will be a greater popular vote cast than was given Mr. Coolidge, which was the heaviest popular vote ever cast.

Given issues which interest them, and nominees for public office capable of interpreting those issues and arousing the public, and Americans will go to the polls.

Where Ruggedness Counts

It is a most fortunate circumstance for both Mr. Hoover and Mr. Smith that they are rugged men, possessed of abundant reserve vitality, since both nominees for the presidency are facing a season of strenuous ordeal which calls for an almost athletic vigor—a vigor seldom found in men of their age.

Even Theodore Roosevelt, probably America's foremost type of athletic ruggedness among statesmen, a physically robust man who loved the gruelling tests of stamina, showed signs of complete exhaustion after a swing through the country, although he trained himself daily much in the manner of a pugilist.

Fortunately, the introduction of the amplifier at huge political gatherings has removed the necessity of straining the voice in order to reach the distant fringes of the crowds, but there are few speakers who can resist the impulse to speak loudly at times and to resort to vigorous gestures while driving home a point.

It will be a big summer for both Mr. Hoover and Mr. Smith, and they will be wise to adopt every precaution against wearing themselves out.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 23.—Developments believed by bankers and economists to be of deep significance have been taking place in relation to the control of credit by the great New York money market. Reference has previously been made to the struggles which are going on between New York and Chicago, the latter city undertaking to wrest away an important participation in the financing of American industry and stock speculation while the latter has fought to retain its supremacy.

New developments have just taken place which not only involve a further noteworthy step in this conflict but a testing of how far the federal reserve board at Washington, through the medium of the twelve federal reserve banks and their branches, may continue to guide the credit policy of the nation. So vital is the issue that the bourses of Europe, no less than the leaders of finance and industry of this country, are following the outcome with undisturbed interest and no little anxiety.

Normally, industry and financial speculation are financed very largely by the banks, whose business it is to perform this service. They lend their capital, of course, but the chief wellspring of their lending funds is their deposits. A reserve must be at all times maintained to meet withdrawals and it is an offense to permit this reserve to fall below the fixed point. But, even while maintaining a safe reserve, the banks have millions of depositors' money which they are free to lend. The interest they earn on this represents their profit and the interest paid on deposits, which at a substantially lesser rate, plus the safe keeping, checking, and accounting facilities afforded, represent the incentive to the public to place money on deposit.

Nearly all important banks are rigidly controlled by law. National banks are regulated and frequently examined by the office of the comptroller of the currency and the federal reserve board. State chartered institutions are regulated and examined by state banking departments. Therefore, the type of loans they make and the practices they follow are under an official eye and subject to minatory action.

But this is not so in respect to loans made by private companies. Suppose an industrial or commercial firm or even an individual to be in possession of substantial surplus funds. If deposited at a bank, interest rarely exceeding 2 1/2 per cent may be earned. Government bonds at a relatively low rate of interest and sound industrial bonds not so very much more. But in such periods of rapid speculation as the New York stock exchange has witnessed in the last six to eight months—indeed, almost for the last year—call money rates may run much higher. Only July 1, last they reached 10 per cent, the highest point since November, 1920.

Such a return is naturally attractive, especially in view of the fact that the money is lent on call; that is, the loan can be recalled on any day; it has no long extended maturity.

While large sums are advanced directly to traders by such companies of individuals having surplus money to lend, it has been the practice of most such lenders to get some bank to place the money for them. A given sum will be turned over to a bank with instructions to lend it on call at the prevailing market rate. The actual owner of the funds, not the bank, in such cases, has the real control and collects the interest. But as remuneration for the performance of this service, the bank charges a service fee.

Now it is through this medium that the New York banks are seeking to cut down the number of such loans of outside money. Heretofore, the banks have taken as a service fee 5 per cent of the amount of interest collected on the call loan. This would vary because the call money rate varies. The New York Clearing House association has just agreed to alter this charge, making it one-half of one per cent of the principal sum lent. Call money usually is not far from 6 per cent. At that average, under the former charging system, the bank would take at the rate of $5,000 a year per $100,000 as a service deduction. Under the new system the charge would go up to $5,000.

One of the outstanding reasons why the federal reserve board and responsible bankers see a danger in the extensive use of these private funds is that, if their owners should suddenly need the money for their own use, they would call it in without warning. Hundreds of millions conceivably could be taken out of the market in a single day with a consequence scaring of bank rates and a very decided and upsetting flurry. The bankers, feeling a definite responsibility as professional money lenders would withdraw funds more slowly in the interest of preventing such a flurry.

With the usual demand for funds for crop moving and normal business expansion this autumn it is anticipated that much of the private money will withdraw itself. Should the action be a sudden one, a distinct pinch with high rates and very tight money likely would develop.

By Frederic J. Haskin.

Q. Was Dr. Munyon of home-remedy fame ever engaged in any other line of work? A. M. C.

A. Although from a child James Munyon evinced an interest in medicine, after maturity he was led to engage in other pursuits. He went into advertising and finally became the publisher of Munyon's Illustrated World, which was a well-known and successful publication. He, however, continued his interest in chemistry and medicine, and in the early nineties organized a homeopathic specific business in Philadelphia, from which he derived a large fortune. During his leisure time he continued his literary pursuits, and wrote a number of songs.

Q. What per cent of efficiency is derived from a gallon of gasoline when used in an automobile? N. K.

A. The exact amount of efficiency derived from a gallon of gasoline in an automobile varies widely, depending on many conditions. It may be anywhere from 15 per cent to 25 per cent efficient.

Q. How much do baseball players' gloves weigh? E. D.

A. Rule 20 of the official baseball rules states: "The catcher of first baseman may wear a glove or mitt of any size, shape, or weight. Every other player is restricted to the use of a glove or mitt weighing not over ten ounces and measuring not over fourteen inches around the palm."

East Liverpool Review Offers a Booklet On Swimming

The man or woman, boy or girl, who can swim can use that knowledge in Winter or Summer.

Life saving is not a seasonal pursuit—a person is just as likely to drown in December while skating as in June while bathing.

This is but one of the reasons why you should learn to swim, or increase your ability if you already know how. You can never tell when this knowledge will be essential.

The Washington Bureau of this paper has for distribution a booklet on swimming and life saving. It was prepared by the American National Red Cross and contains instructions for beginners and advanced students, together with a number of swimming and life-saving tests.

Send for your copy of the helpful booklet today. Enclose four cents in coin or stamps to cover return postage and handling.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Thoughtful strolling. What's become of the parties? Mayor Walker's green coupe. Fests who say, "And how!" Harrison Fisher's gray spats. Roy Howard, a Gano, O. boy, who made good in the city. Drug store window sign: "Gin Fizz."

Find a restaurant with a heavy Jewish patronage and you find good food. Steve Hannagan, Gene Tunney's public relations counsel. Oscar of the Waldorf. Resembles a benign and roly poly apple-checked curate. These houses on the street with half moon driveways.

Val Farrell, a detective with a mystery novel name. Why do gardeners always look so surly? Eighteen-year-old lorgnette users. Maybe it's the liquor. Sam Kingston, Forty-second street's Beau Brummell. One of those inns where Washington "stopped."

Why do hemstitching shops locate upstairs in dingy buildings? Six giggling chorus girls in a roadster—and giving a tree leg show. Horse faced men who wear Alpine hats several sizes too soon. Fluffy little dogs yapping from limousine windows.

The big tank on Riverside Drive. And tea time at the Claremont—once the home of Theodosia Burr. Grant's tomb and the inscription, "Let Us Have Peace." And the young couples who go there to spoon. The iron fence encircling the grave for "The Unknown Child."

The tree Li Hung Chang planted as a tribute to General Grant. Two churches now going up on the Drive. Dreamers on some stone wall benches—gazing all day at the Hudson. Sailor boys on the marsh. Bishop Potter's home gone. The Soldier and Sailor Monument.

The mammoth apartment house whose upper floors are occupied by W. R. Hearst. Charles M. Schwab's lawn always looks as though it has just been to the barber. Those retired grumpy army officers with Filipino servants and the goat. The fine old West 72nd str. residences are now small ships.

Brooklyn may be as the jokesters say, "at the wrong end of the bridge," but it has more personality and general.

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

What would you think of an transcontinental railroad which undertook to drive a train across North America without changing engines? If you had plenty of time it might be done, but I venture to say it would require two or three weeks to make the trip. One time I crossed from Chicago to the Pacific coast, and, if I remember correctly, we changed engines twenty-four times. There was a strike on the road and the engines were in bad condition. A few hours would put the imperfectly repaired machine out of business.

There must be intervals for cooling off, for oiling and the making of minor repairs. Without them, the engine becomes so seriously out of order that it cannot proceed at all.

These intervals in the use of a machine compare with the periods of rest and sleep required in the life of a living machine. Without the restoration and repair accomplished by these restful periods, there could be no continued activity on the part of the strongest of men and women.

The nervous system is a delicate and complicated mechanism. It is far more sensitive, more liable to get out of order, and more susceptible to serious disturbance than any machine made by man. It should be as well treated, certainly, as a railroad locomotive.

For myself I know that I must have sleep. I can get along without food, but without abundant sleep my work becomes unsatisfactory to me. Of course, I can speak for nobody else, but for me I know I must have plenty of sleep if I am to do my best work.

Just how many hours of sleep you need depends on your particular make-up. Napoleon got along with five hours or less, but most of us require much more. The average grown person needs about eight hours. Children must have more.

The sleeping room should be dark, quiet, cool, and well aired. The bed covering should be just enough to furnish comfort. If it is too heavy the sleep is restless and unrefreshing.

"Change of work is rest," is an old saying and a true one. Make it a point to get some recreation and a change from your usual duties. The tired part of your nervous system is being rested when you are using some other portion of it.

Sleep and rest are essential to your happiness. You cannot be successful in your undertakings and safe from the invasion of disease if you neglect them.

Answers to Health Queries.
 R. F. B. Q.—Would a sharp pain in the arm and around the heart, accompanied by a feeling of weakness indicate anything serious?

A.—May be due to heart condition or to neuritis, due to some infection in the system. Have your heart examined first of all and then definite treatment can be advised.

J. V. Q.—What would you advise for stuttering? My little son four years old stutters very badly.

2.—What should I do when I notice myself taking cold?

A.—Try to make the little fellow talk slowly and do not excite him. This is a nervous condition and by careful training he will probably outgrow it. If in a few years he has not improved it might be wise to consult the local board of education for information concerning classes for speech defect.

2.—Consult a physician.

J. J. C. Q.—Would 5 ft. 8 in. tall be considered a good height for a young man of eighteen years of age? What should be weight?

A.—Yes. He should weigh about 142 pounds.

Other Editors Say

Sincerity is the basis of true eloquence. Without it, the speaker is merely a "fine talker," his very facility an item of disparagement. "How can I hear what you say," exclaims Emerson in a memorable passage, "when what you are keeps thundering in my ears?" With sincerity, on the other hand, intelligent utterance may have the effect of eloquence.

We are thinking of Hoover's speech of acceptance. It has been greeted on all sides as a notable thing, yet the man himself has no reputation as a public speaker. Was the power of it in the thought and expression, or in the man? The answer is that one factor is inseparable from the other. Through the lines as they came to the public over the radio or the printed page, people sensed "the arduous greatness of things done." Behind every phrase, the public had a vision of a redoubtable American, meeting the distresses of ravaged Belgium; administering the food problems of his own country in wartime so as to provide surpluses for its hard-pressed allies; bringing famine relief when the war was ended to Russia, to the Balkan countries, to former enemy powers; grappling through two administrations with intricate questions of commerce; meeting with unmatched powers of organization and the resources of his fine humanity an unexampled flood in the lower Mississippi valley.

All that Hoover said at Palo Alto his countrymen heard because his deeds were a sounding board for his words and not their denial.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

Once Overs

By J. H. Mundy.

Work Hard and Play Hard. Have you allowed yourself to think that you are working too hard? You argue that you must preserve your vitality for the many hard years that are before you.

So you are letting down. Since you started favoring yourself you know that you have made less and less effort, and as time goes on you are likely to continue to let down till you won't be worth a cent.

The farther you depart from the speed you maintained in former years and the extent of your thought in furthering your job, the easier for you to lessen your efforts in accomplishment.

Has anyone ever suggested to you that you are heading toward the point where you will be succeeded by a more energetic person?

Well, this is the road you are traveling at present.

Why be so afraid of wearing yourself out?

The number of persons who wear themselves out working is far less than the number who actually rust out.

If you take the required rest and play in your leisure time, you need not fear working too hard.

Only One of a Kind

Like the word "Service," the word "Individuality" has, thru bad association, lost much of its force, but none of its meaning. Here, the word means just exactly what it says. When we refer to individual garments, we mean that in our entire stock you will find no other garment like it.

Only one of a kind means much to the woman who wishes to be exclusive and she can select with that sweet assurance that she will meet no other woman on the street or at the club wearing a garment just like hers.

Our one of a kind policy in selecting fashions may work a little hardship on us, but it satisfies our customers who, after all, are the mainspring of any successful business.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—The bears were caught napping today when an anticipated $100,000,000 increase in brokers' loans developed into a $22,000,000 shrinkage, due most likely to the distribution on a state bond accumulation and the passing of speculative stocks to "strong hands." The leading motor and industrial stocks jumped 2 to 4 points at the opening, the bulls corraling the offerings by buying in their favorite stocks in 10,000-share blocks.

Chrysler's new three and one-half point jump to 100 was the feature of the motor, though General Motors and Studebaker moved upward brilliantly at the expense of the trapped shorts. United States steel reached a new high for the movement at 152, American Can at 109 and Sears Roebuck at 148. The pace was fast and furious in the first hour, with the sales volume 1,023,000 shares and the ticker falling behind the market as in the March-to-April hectic day. In most cases the opening prices were the highest of the period, an enormous volume of profit-taking having been attracted by the overnight advances in speculative stock values. Chrysler and General Motors were beaten back about two points each and recessions of a point or more occurred in other sections of the list. Higher prices for copper metal were reflected in the brilliant market records of the principal copper shares. Anaconda sold above 70 in future reflection of the recent purchase of the Montana property of the Clark estate and the anticipated increase in earnings to be derived therefrom. American smelting pushed ahead to new high price levels.

HEALTH SERVICE ISSUES TYPHOID FEVER WARNING

Outlines Rules by Which Disease May be Prevented.

MANY FATALITIES

Urges Inoculation as Preventive Before
Vaccination Period.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—A warning to the country to take precautions against typhoid fever comes from the United States Public Health Service. It was not an alarmist statement, but advised that while typhoid fever may occur at any time during the year, it is most prevalent in the United States during the late summer and in the autumn months. Typhoid fever germs are taken into the body through the mouth with the food or drink, or by means of direct infection with flies.

"This history of the remarkable control of typhoid fever which has taken place in the United States within the past 20 years is one of the striking examples of the value of public health work," it was said.

"Typhoid fever which only a few years ago took a toll of more than 50,000 lives annually is now responsible for the death of something less than 10,000 each year.

Develop Preventives.

"Preventive medicine has developed to such an extent that we are sometimes prone to have a false sense of security and to neglect important fundamentals of sanitation. Eternal vigilance is the price of sanitation."

Three cardinal rules for prevention of the disease were outlined:

1. Swat the flies.
2. Boil all milk or water which is of doubtful purity.
3. Vaccinate or inoculate against the disease.

"Among the foods other than milk that are most likely to be exposed to infection and liable to convey typhoid fever are those eaten raw or uncooked," it was stated. "Well-cooked food or properly pasteurized or boiled milk or milk products are safe from the danger of conveying typhoid or other milk-borne or water-borne diseases."

Urges Vaccination.
"It is an established fact that a person may be rendered comparatively safe from typhoid fever by inoculation. The duration of this immunity is not exactly known, but it is certainly safest to be vaccinated at least once in three years. The slight inconvenience attending the inoculation is a small price to pay for protection against so prolonged and so dangerous an illness as typhoid fever."

For driving his car at 43 miles an hour in Hyde Park, London, Sir Peter Grant Lawson was fined $10 recently.

HOOVER OPENS HIS CAMPAIGN IN 'WET,' EAST

Feels Confident That Grain Belt Will Go Republican.

TO FORCE ISSUES

Threatened Railroad Strike Worries G. O. P. Leaders.

By William K. Hutchinson.
ENROUTE TO WASHINGTON WITH HOOVER, Aug. 24.—Parting with the Midwest, satisfied that the grain belt will go Republican in November, Herbert Hoover was speeding toward Washington today to take personal command of his campaign on the wet Atlantic seaboard.

The Republican nominee will take up his task, convinced that his hard-fought fight must be fought in the tier of tidewater states from Massachusetts to Maryland. He has agreed with his advisors that the candidacy of Governor Alfred E. Smith, his Democratic rival, will have its greatest appeal in these states, due to the prohibition issue.

Hoover however has determined to make a fight for each state. He was said to believe that the Republicans could win the Atlantic seaboard, despite its apparent opposition to prohibition, if his states were properly organized. His plan will be to force the Republican issues of prosperity, efficient administration and governmental economy to the fore, rather than to attack Smith's prohibition stand. By this strategy, the Republican standard-bearer believes the east can be kept in the Republican column.

Hoover came east with one fly in the Midwest ointment. It was the prospect of a strike on all railroads west of the Mississippi. Such a strike, it was feared, might be made a political football and used to destroy all the Republicans gain scored by Hoover on his three-day stay in Iowa.

The Hoover camp was optimistic over the outlook in the grain belt. His advisers believed Hoover had definitely halted the farm revolt that started during the Kansas City convention and had placated even the most disgruntled of Republican farm leaders during his conferences. Cedar Rapids, the Hoover farm relief program, it was felt, would win back to the party the thousands of farmers who threatened to bolt because of the defeat of the McNary-Hauser bill.

The threat of a railroad strike, consequently, created a good deal of alarm. The strike vote is now being taken and the ballots will be counted next Tuesday. It will involve 57 railroads and approximately 72,000 conductors and trainmen, who demanded a wage increase of 1 1/2 per cent, to meet a similar increase recently given employees of eastern and southern railroads. The demand was rejected by the Western Railroad association, even though a number of the largest western carriers have signified their willingness to pay the increase.

There was some hope that, even though the workers vote to strike, there will be no walkout. Representatives of several railroads already are trying to arrange a settlement and there were some prospects that the workers demand would be met in time to avert a strike.

The Hoover advisers though were fearful lest the strike be called, resulting in a tieup of railroad service west of the Mississippi with resultant disorders. Any such economic upheaval, it was thought, would react against the Republican party, simply because it happens to be in national power.

Train Reaches Pittsburgh.
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 24.—The special train bearing Herbert Hoover, Republican candidate for the presidency, back to Washington, arrived here at 11:15 a. m. (Standard time) today.

A small crowd, estimated at only 250 to 300 persons, was on hand to greet the nominee. The train was expected to wait here 20 to 30 minutes while a new engine is attached.

ELECTRIC SHOCK PROVES FATAL

COSHOCKTON, O., Aug. 24.—C. O. Wages, 32, of the Newcomerstown substation of the Ohio Power company, died in a hospital here today of burns and shock sustained late yesterday when his body came in contact with a high tension wire at the substation.

Wages unconscious body was discovered by J. J. Dolan, in the plant late yesterday. He was revived by artificial respiration and brought here but his injuries proved fatal.

He is survived by his widow and two children.

Believe Ohio Mines

A significant feature of the wage agreement is the creation of a joint committee of three miners and three operators to meet in November and pursue an intensive study of conditions in this and adjoining states relative to the coal industry and to work out a wage scale to be submitted to a joint conference of miners and operators before the expiration of the present agreement. This committee will be in existence from November until the second week of February, 1930.

Two resolutions were adopted by the conference. One expressed adherence to and acceptance of the principle of collective bargaining. The other endorsed the action of the last congress in investigating the coal industry and urged federal legislation to conserve coal deposits. State and federal government officials are urged by this resolution to use their influence in the support of legislation benefiting the coal industry.

HOOVER BOOSTER

Colonel William (Wild Bill) Donovan, who was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor for wartime service with the old 69th New York infantry, and now assistant attorney general of the United States, was one of Herbert Hoover's advisers in the preparation of the speech of acceptance.

the value of farm land in five years. More and better roads for transporting farm products, more canals for "commodities of great bulk least profitable to railroads" are advocated, and an all-American route from the Great Lakes to the ocean.

THE governor would have a waterway to the Gulf through the Mississippi, would take care of floods and think carefully before letting private interests control any more water power. Disclosures as to power trust propaganda impress him.

Gov. Smith would let all states with a just claim share in power generated by the Colorado river. He'd retain government ownership of Muscle Shoals, but let government rent out power to get what it has spent.

GOV. SMITH wants "reasonable contentment" for those who toil and thinks the government should be concerned about "the legitimate interests of labor."

He believes in "collective bargaining" to put labor on a basis of equality with the employer, and says "Labor is not a commodity." He endorses the opinion of Justice Taft, who said: "Government of relations between capital and labor by injunction is an absurdity."

7 STOWAWAYS KILLED BY GAS

BALTIMORE, Aug. 24.—Seven stowaways were killed and nine were made critically ill today by gas being emitted to fumigate the freighter Steel Inventor, just arrived from Montevideo. The stowaways, all Portuguese, were believed smuggled aboard by members of the ship's crew. They were trapped below decks when the hatches were battered down to fumigate the vessel. The boat was ordered fumigated because of yellow fever.

He was a member of Lisbon Masonic order, a member of Salem Commandery and a member of Al Koran Temple, Cleveland.

Since 1882 he has been local counsel for the Erie railroad. He was made general counsel of The Pittsburgh, Marion & Chicago Railway company in 1882 and he became president of that company in 1890, which office he resigned at the time he was appointed Judge of the Court of Common Pleas.

After he resigned the judgeship, the Pittsburgh, Marion & Chicago Railway Co., was reorganized, and he became general counsel for that company, and became its president in 1902, which office he held until 1916; since which time he has been a vice-president and general manager of that company.

He acted as counsel for people who organized the East Liverpool Traction & Light company, and became general manager of that company. He has been director and counsel for many industrial corporations.

He was a charter member of the Ohio Bar association, and in 1908 was appointed as one of the delegates to represent the Ohio Bar association at the American Bar association meeting. He became a member of the American Bar association in 1908, and was elected vice-president of the Ohio State Bar association in 1915.

At its organization he became a vestryman in Trinity Episcopal church at Lisbon, and continued to hold that position until 1925. He has been the president and one of the directors of the Lepper library association since its organization in 1897. He became a member of the Duquesne club at Pittsburgh in 1899, and was a member of the Ohio Society of New York.

To this union three children were born: Loraine, who died December 18, 1906, at the age of 29 years; Robert Wallace, who died August 22, 1902, at the age of 22 years; and Horace McCook Billingsley, who has been engaged in the practice of law in New York City since 1919. Mrs. Billingsley died at her home in Lisbon, August 12, 1927.

Members of the Columbiana county Bar association will meet at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon in court room No. 1, Lisbon, and will attend the funeral in a body.

OHIO OPERATOR GET SOS FROM MISSING FLYERS

Aviators Believed on Island North of Newfoundland.

"FOOD RUNS LOW"

Friends Say Neither of Two Were Radio Operators.

TOLEDO, Aug. 24.—Joseph E. Williams, amateur radio operator today said, he had received an SOS message from the greater Rockford.

The call said the crew was stranded on an island 100 miles off the Newfoundland coast, and ask that aid be sent at once.

The Greater Rockford disappeared while a flight was being attempted from Rockford, Ill., to Stockholm, Sweden. The pilots were Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer.

Williams, who is 39 years old and who lives at 1935 Freeman avenue, has operated an amateur sending station for 13 years. He is a graduate of the University of Michigan and is now budget engineer for the Surface Combustion Co., manufacturers of industrial furnaces.

Williams' brother-in-law, J. D. Reed, a cotton broker of New York City, plans to go to the South Pole with Commander Richard Byrd, because of these plans, Williams recently has been keeping close watch for all radio signals from airplanes attempting long distance or over water flights.

"I was working my set about 11:30 p. m. when I first got the SOS signal," Williams said today, "I was pretty much thrilled over it, because it was the first SOS signal I have received in the 13 years I have been interested in radio."

"The SOS signals were followed by the call letters KHAH, the letters of the Greater Rockford's set. The SOS signals were repeated for about 20 minutes."

"Finally they heard me and the first message was 'can you get in communication with the press?' I told them I could, and their next message was 'we are stranded on small island 100 miles north of Newfoundland. We are Rockford to Sweden fliers.'"

"I broke in to ask them if I was the first one to communicate with them, and their answer was 'you are the first station we have worked from here, O. M.' The initials are the initials for old man which every radio operator uses."

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—That the messages reported by amateur radio operators at Chicago and Toledo, purporting to have been received from Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer, missing Illinois-to-Sweden fliers, could not have been genuine, was stated here today by friends of the fliers who stated that neither Hassell nor Cramer was a radio operator.

It was said that Cramer merely learned location letters, to give the plane's position from time to time, but that he could not send long messages such as those reported.

An amateur operator at Toledo, and another at Chicago, reported almost identical messages, stating "we are safe but running short of food," and giving the fliers' location as on an island 50 to 100 miles north of Newfoundland.

Later it was learned this same message had been picked up by amateurs in New York and Detroit.

Radio experts here believe some one with a grim sense of humor is broadcasting the fictitious message.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—A radio call for help, ostensibly from Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer, missing transatlantic fliers, was picked up here early today by H. A. Jansen, Brooklyn amateur operator. The message said that the missing men were on an island north of Newfoundland. According to Jansen he said:

"We are stranded on a small island north of Newfoundland. Please send help. We are the Rockford-Sweden fliers and want help. Our ship was lost 50 miles north of Newfoundland. Please hurry. Out on a small island, where we are O. K. and safe. But our food is getting low and we are using a generator for a transmitter. The only way you can get help to us is by ship. Please get word to our families."

GROTTO PARADE MARRED BY RAIN

Officers Elected at Third Annual Convention of Lodge Members.

SANDUSKY, O., Aug. 24.—Rain today marred the parade, feature of the third annual convention of the Ohio Grotto association here. Hundreds marched, however, in the most colorful parade Sandusky has ever seen.

The Al Sirat patrol, of Cleveland, had the great number of uniformed men in the procession.

George R. Hoffman, Toledo, vice-president, was installed today as president of the association, succeeding Dr. W. J. Stirling, Cleveland. He was elected last night.

Other officers elected and installed today were: Amos Englebeck, Akron, vice-president; Scott Kraus, Columbus, second vice-president; H. H. Hampton, Warren, third vice-president; W. B. Schmidt, Cleveland, secretary-treasurer; S. W. Robert, Mansfield, sergeant-at-arms; and Charles Ebert, Sandusky; Harry Apple, Columbus, and J. M. Crider, Newark, trustees.

Gubernatorial Nominee

gether too backward" in dealing with the conservation of natural resources. Davey said that, if elected governor, he proposed to appoint a non-partisan, non-salaried commission to direct the operation of a "broad, comprehensive program" designed to build up Ohio's economic resources.

There is "grave need," said Davey, for revision of Ohio's election laws so as to make it possible to prevent, or easily detect, "shameful election frauds." He said provision must be made for an easy recount of votes, "under proper restrictions," and for permanent registration of voters.

The criminal laws, Davey believed, also should be revised for purpose of speeding up the process of justice and to prevent, to a maximum degree, the use of technicalities for the evasion of justice.

If chosen as the state's chief executive, Davey proposes to continue the administration of the state highway department "on the basis of maximum efficiency, full of spirit of service and strict honesty."

Dealing with the subject of education, Davey said: "Without molesting any private, or independent, educational institution, I want to give to the whole problem of education a sympathetic and constructive attitude."

Regarding public office as a "public trust," Davey said that "the highest quality of government is fairness and impartiality."

Expressing belief the farmer, whose cows are taken by the state because of tuberculosis infection, should receive adequate compensation promptly, Davey insisted that such condemned cows should not be slaughtered for meat but should be used in the production of fertilizer.

On the subject of law enforcement, Davey spoke, in full, as follows: "I am definitely and sincerely interested in the problem of honest law enforcement. By this I do not mean the petty and unimportant things, nor the casual and unhabitual violations of lesser seriousness. I have in mind particularly that very small, but highly virulent, group who might be called the professional law-breaking class, those who violate the laws for profit."

"They are, by their very nature, the eternal enemies of society. I stand now, and propose to stand as governor of Ohio, without qualification, for honest, straight-forward and determined law enforcement against the professional law-breaking class. It seems to me that this is a part of the very essence of good government, and a fundamentally necessary thing in order to preserve not only the government itself but the institutions which it makes possible."

"In order to make myself quite clear it is proper to say that I have a profound respect for the sanctity of the private home, and I would not permit the agents of government to violate that sanctity without due process of law. It is only when a home is transformed into a public nuisance, or into a public place by deliberate violation of law, that government should ever cross its threshold, and the only under due process."

Dealing with the agricultural situation, Davey said:

"There are some things that the state government can do to help the great agricultural group who represent our basic industry. It is probable that the federal government can do much more, but inasmuch as I came from the soil, I shall undertake to be a true and useful friend to agriculture, and propose to put into those functions of government dealing with agriculture the fullest spirit of service."

"In the national campaign, we have two great leaders, Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York and Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas," said Davey. "They were the overwhelming choice of the Democratic national convention. Our candidate for president represents the genius of America in his courageous climb from an exceedingly humble origin to a high place in his own state and in the esteem of the nation. He sprang from such circumstances of life as would tend to thwart all but the most persevering."

"He took into his high office unusual human qualities and a fine sympathy and understanding that mark him as an outstanding product of our American political system. He, also, brought efficiency and comprehension into the affairs of the state that clearly indicate a genius for government."

"Our candidate for vice president represents by birth and instinct and training that great agricultural portion of our people who are the basis of our national wealth and progress. His humble origin makes his rise to fame and power all the more notable. No man could make such a record as number of congress, governor of his state and leader of his party in the U. S. senate without being an extraordinary man."

"So far as Ohio is concerned, we have the habit of electing Democratic governors. This year, we should go further and elect the whole Democratic ticket and a substantial majority of the state legislature. The need of electing a friendly legislature is made clearly evident by the courageous efforts of Governor Donahey to prevent many bad pieces of legislation by the use of the veto power, only to have his veto rendered impotent by the passage of some of the worst of these measures over his veto by an opposition legislature."

Discuss Platform.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 24.—For the purpose of complying with the statutory mandate calling for adoption of a state platform and the nomination of candidates for presidential electors, Ohio Democrats met in state convention here this afternoon.

As temporary chairman, Henry G. Brunner, Mansfield, chairman of the Democratic state campaign committee and manager of the Democratic campaign in the Buckeye state this fall, called the convention to order in the Neil house ball room.

Delivery of the "keynote" address of the present state campaign by Congressman Martin L. Davey, Kent, Democratic nominee for governor, and speeches by Director of Agriculture Charles V. Truax, Bucyrus, Democratic nominee for U. S. senator, full term, and by other candidates on the Democratic state ticket featured the convention.

The temporary organization of the convention included: William M. Gableman, Portsmouth, secretary; Marie D. McMurphy, Columbus, executive secretary; Carl Stander, Mansfield, sergeant-at-arms, and Rev. N. W. Simpson, Columbus, chaplain.

The delegates to the convention caucused by congressional districts this morning and selected the members of the standing committees on credentials, permanent organization, rules and order of business, and on platform and resolutions. BOAT REGATTA ENDS TOMORROW

Speedboats Will Race for Cup Given by Dawes.

MARIETTA, O., Aug. 24.—Speedboat owners began carefully tuning up their little crafts here today preparatory to time tests—straightaway dashes of a mile on the Ohio—for the windup of Marietta's regatta tomorrow. A massive gold cup, donated by Vice President Charles G. Dawes, Marietta's favorite son, will be borne away by the winner of Saturday's event.

An unexpected, and near tragic thrill was given the assembled crowd of speedboat fans yesterday just as the races got under way, on the Muskingum river. The "Century Cyclone," midge speedster, driven by Alonzo Paulding, millionaire Milwaukee sportsman, suddenly burst into flames near the west bank of the river. Paulding leaped for safety and thousands of spectators hurriedly scrambled up the river bank fearing an explosion.

Fire apparatus failed to quench the blaze and Paul Hausner, Marietta boy, who won a host of swimming and rowing events later in the day, swam to the Cyclone, climbed on the prow and capsized the little craft. Spectators on either bank lustily cheered the lad's heroic effort.

Today's program will be practically a duplicate of yesterday's events, although the calibre of racing boats is scheduled to be vastly higher. Nationally known pilots arrived here last night.

Files $10,000 Damage Suit Against Officer

Earl H. McKinnon Names Constable Albert Oyster in Court Action; Charges Attempted Arrest Without Warrant.

As a result of what he charges was an attempt to arrest him without a warrant, and because he was shot in the back near the spine, Earl H. McKinnon has filed a $10,000 damage action in common pleas court against Constable Albert W. Oyster, a constable at Wellsville and a merchant police. The Fidelity & Casualty Co., of New York, his surety on two bonds, is made a party defendant.

The petition relates that Oyster attempted to arrest the plaintiff on a charge of "contributing to the delinquency of a minor child," without producing or reading a warrant to him. He then relates that Oyster shot at him, a bullet entering his back near his spine and passing through his body, with the result that he has been, he claims, permanently injured. The event is scheduled as having taken place in Wellsville, May 11, last. McKinnon is represented by Cochran and Crawford of East Liverpool.

'SUN-UP,' DRAMA AT CHAUTAUQUA

Tells Story of North Carolina Mountain People.

"Sunup" seven character drama portraying life of the mountain "whites" of North Carolina, a story built around the reaction of the simple mountain folk to the forces let loose by the World war, is billed as the feature offering on today's Redpath chautauqua program here.

"Sunup" introduces Marie Payve as "Widow Cagle", central figure of the play; David Pritchard as "Rufe" Cagle; Don Harrington as "Pap" Todd and "The Stranger"; Isabel Traverser as Emmy Todd; and Henry Buckler as Jim Weeks and "The Preacher".

Lulu Vollmer, author of "Sunup" wrote the play as a result of an anecdote which was told of a mountain lad who, upon arriving at a southern training camp during the war, inquired, "Air This hiar France?"

The phrase was the spark which glowed her imagination and brought the pictures of the mountain people as she had seen them when as a small girl, she and her family had spent many summers among them.

Henry Stillman, assistant director at the Theatre Guild, presents it at Scarborough. It was a success. It was Henry Stillman who later directed the play for the New York production by the Players, Inc., at the Provincetown theatre.

Later plays by Miss Vollmer are: "The Shame Woman" and "The Dunces Boy."

Smith Damron, an expert with the potter's wheel, will show the evolution of a piece of clay into usable ware at this afternoon's program.

Big League Flag Rivals Strengthen Forces For Final Drive

Call Out Vets, Rookies To Carry Them Through

Yanks Get Tom Zachary at Waiver Price; Cards Recall Bell; Jack Scott With Giants Again; Columbus Kid Aids Reds.

By Les Conklin.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—With the National league pennant race developing into the hottest fight in years and the Athletics slowly but surely gaining on the Yankees in the American league, managers of both fronts today were rushing replacements to the front-line trenches.

Tom Zachary, southpaw obtained from Washington by the Yanks for the waiver price of $7,500, will be used by Manager Huggins as a starting pitcher until Pennock recovers from neuritis.

Huggins is also dicker for a right-hander from the minors. The Cardinals will recall Pitcher Herman Bell from Rochester late next week. Jack Scott, back again from Toledo, aided the Giants yesterday, and Ken Ash, youthful hurler from Columbus, helped put Cincinnati in third place in his first start as a big leaguer. Ernie Ottavio, up from the American association, is the big gun of the Cards.

The lineups of all the contending clubs are sprinkled with the names of promising rookies. And the young bloods will do considerable damage to rival clubs before their batting weaknesses, if any, are recovered.

New York fans regard the acquisition of Zachary as a favorable omen because a couple of years ago Dutch Reuther, another veteran southpaw obtained from Washington, proved to be a life-saver for the Yanks.

The Giants relinquished the National league lead to St. Louis by a 6 to 3 verdict in the opener. Benton and Scott twirled for New York, the former registering his 21st victory. Fred Fussell tamed the Giants in the nightcap, while the Bucs kayoed Carl Hubbell, Texas southpaw sensation, and swamped the New Yorkers by a 13 to 3 score.

The Reds clicked off six double plays, increasing their season's total to 154, in downing Brooklyn twice, 2 to 0 and 6 to 1.

By beating Cleveland, 3 to 1, while the Yanks were idle, the Athletics cut New York's lead to 4 1/2 games. Lefty Grove, who has lost only one game this season outside of his defeats by the Huggins, hung up his eleventh straight win and his 19th victory of the season. He fanned the side in the second inning on nine pitched balls and then struck out the next two batters, whiffing five men on 17 pitches.

Detroit moved into fourth place by defeating Boston, 2 to 1, as Owen Carroll turned in his 14th victory. The Tigers took four straight from the Red Sox by a one-run margin.

Firpo Marberry held the White Sox to five hits and negotiated Washington to a 4 to 3 triumph in ten innings.

Tilden to Lose His Standing With Amateurs

"Guilty" Verdict Forecast at "Hearing" Tonight.

By George Barry.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Unless there is a sudden and complete reversal of opinion on the part of the powers that be in the United States Lawn Tennis association, William T. Tilden 2nd, has played his last game of lawn tennis as a good and law-abiding amateur. Trial of the charges that Tilden violated the amateur code by writing about play in the recent English championship at Wimbledon is to be held before the executive committee of the U. S. L. T. A. here last night, and it is a foregone conclusion among those in touch with the situation that there is only one chance in a thousand that "Big Bill" will be declared guiltless and permitted to continue in action.

While Tilden in a "defense" letter to Samuel A. Collom, president of the association, denied that he had violated the rule as charged this is regarded as a purely technical defense. The evidence is looked upon as conclusive that the defendant is guilty as charged.

What is hurting Tilden most in the preliminary discussion of his case before trial is that he is running away from a fight by refusing to attend the hearing and make his reply to the charges in person. Such action is not in keeping with "Big Bill's" usual method of doing things, for in the past there has never been any trouble in keeping him out of a fight. Now he has retreated to Boston to await the verdict.

Tilden's present troubles date back to a series of articles which he wrote in England commenting as he called it, on the play of the American Davis Cup team in the Wimbledon championship. Dr. Summer Hardy of the California association, a member of the executive committee, after reading the articles in a San Francisco paper presented charges to the association rules committee of the association that the Tilden stories violated the code.

LOMOND ISSUES GRID UNIFORMS

MIDLAND, Pa., Aug. 24.—Blue and gold football uniforms of Lincoln high school were issued to candidates by Coach W. P. Lomond at a special meeting in the school gym last night. First summer practice will be held at the grid camp at Fredericktown, O., for a week, starting Monday morning.

Bucs, Giants Divide Double

Cardinals Regain Lead in Flag Race

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 24.—The aspiring Buccaneers, themselves only five and one-half games from the lead, halted the Giant advance with such effect yesterday that John Joseph McGraw found himself looking up at the Cardinals again today, even if the margin was only one percentage point. After the New Yorkers had brutally assaulted Carmen Hill while he had his glasses on to take the first game, 6 to 3, the Pirates retaliated against four Giant hurlers with sufficient vigor to bag the second clash, 13 to 3.

This even division cost the Giants two percentage points, and since the Robins were not on hand to trim St. Louis, dropped the New York entry one point below the Red Birds, who were idle yesterday. The Cards remained half a game ahead of McGraw—as they have remained all through his brief reign at the top on percentage.

The prospect of seeing Giant blood strewn about the premises drew 30,000 fans to Forbes field, the largest crowd of the local season. The Giants cast gloom over the vast assemblage when they peppered Hill for five runs in the eighth round of the opener to win Lefty Benton's 21st victory of the season. A home run by Frank O'Doul with one on and a triple by Terry with two on encompassed the fall of Prof. Hill.

Benton missed his twenty-fourth complete game as he gave way to a pinch batsman just as the Giant fun started in the eighth. Old Jack Scott, recently rescued from Toledo by McGraw, held the Pirates hitless in the last two rounds.

The series stands at one apiece up until today, the Katies coppin' the opener with Cracked Howell submerging 'em to death. Cracker's sub was sunk, however, in the second tilt with all hands aboard, under a deluge of Turk Nash hits and runs.

The motors in that game made almost sufficient counters to double the total runs for the series on the Potters, the grand tally standing at 15 to 8.

In this respect the auto combines has made more use of its hits than its rivals. Fowler's club has banged out 17 hits, every safety but two being accompanied by a run. The Katies have made 15 singles to date.

In all likelihood "Sonny" Desher will make his third appearance of the series on the mound for Turk Nash. Fowler feels ready for another whirl at his baseball enemies and may get the call tonight with Mackall also standing by for action.

and should be friendly and loyal to her friends.
THREE WHITE CROWS.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I know a girl two years my junior. I hold a very responsible position and I have learned to think very seriously of her since our friendship began. She does not seem to care for me when I'm around, yet I imagine she loves me. She goes out with other young men and doesn't give me a chance. What can I do to make her understand me?

WONDERING—If you really want to find out how much the young lady cares for you, Wondering, why don't you ask her to marry you? That is the surest test I know of.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I have been going with a young man a short time, with the permission of my parents. They think he should come to the house for me instead of waiting in the machine until I come.

If he is to come to the house, how can I make it known without offending him? Also they think he should accompany me to the door when we return from an evening out.

CURRY—Your parents are quite right in their attitude, my dear. The young man should call at your home and escort you to the door when leaving you.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I have been going steady with a girl I am very much in love with. Over some recent trouble with this girl's sister, her father has refused me the pleasure of seeing her.

I think of her constantly and cannot get her off my mind. I have apologized for my part of the affair, but it did not do good.

I know lots of girls whom I could go with, but I do not enjoy their company since I have met this one. WORRIED: If you have apologized as you say, Worried, I am sure I don't know what else you can do. However, the girl must obey her father and not see you, so the wisest thing you can do is to try to forget. Go with other young people and time will eventually either make you forget, or bring about a reconciliation.

R. C. A. BRINGS OUT IMPROVED RADIO MODELS

New Receivers and Loudspeakers Announced by Company.

THREE NEW TYPES

Improved Sets Represented "Years of Intensive Research."

A new line of Radiolas including superheterodyne receivers utilizing AC radiotrons throughout, for simplified electric operation with self-enclosed loudspeakers of the improved dynamic type, and a new loudspeaker of artistic design, is announced by the Radio Corporation of America, of which the Smith & Phillips company are local dealers. Pointing out that "years of intensive research and constant development by the leading radio organizations have served to confirm the soundness of basic principles represented in the superheterodyne circuit," the announcement reads, "Now, with the application of AC tubes to the superheterodyne circuit, following the example set with the improved tuned radio-frequency circuit, broadcast reception takes another step forward towards the ultimate of perfection."

The new AC superheterodyne receivers are introduced in three models to be known as Radiola 60, a popular priced table model, Radiola 62, a console cabinet with enclosed dynamic speaker, and Radiola 64, a larger console cabinet with a dynamic speaker of greater power.

framing the selector dial and concealing the bulb which illuminates the dial and tuning control. Operation of this new superheterodyne has been reduced to its simplest form by means of a single tuning control. In addition there is a power switch and volume control.

"The use of a power detector tube according to the announcement, is a new and revolutionary development which makes it possible to obtain much greater volume without overloading or distortion than from a detector tube in the usual type of circuit. This power detector also prevents overloading of the following audio stage."

Radiola 62 employs the same superheterodyne circuit and radiotrons as the 60 type together with the additional feature of a bulletin dynamic loudspeaker," the announcement continues. "This new dynamic loudspeaker incorporates refinements and improvements resulting from the extensive research work of our laboratories and those of our associated companies since the first dynamic type of speaker was introduced by the Radio Corporation in 1925. Superior response over the whole range of musical tones is provided with remarkable evenness and smoothness of operation. The entire mechanism is enclosed in a decorated walnut console cabinet. The control panel and loudspeaker grill are exposed by opening the hinged doors of the console.

"Radiola 64 utilizes the same circuit as that employed in the other two receivers in the '60' series with modifications and additions."

"Several unique and advanced features are included in this set. There is a tuning meter, which provides an accurate method of tuning. An automatic volume control keeps the output of the loudspeaker at any desired level of sound, and avoids the necessity of frequent manual adjustment of volume, as local or long-distance stations are turned in. In sections where stations have a tendency to fade in and out, Radiola 64 will, through the operation of its volume control, obviate this annoying condition almost entirely.

"A walnut cabinet of exquisite design and workmanship completes the craftsmanship incorporated in the Radiola 64. The hinged doors are arranged to fold back along the sides of the cabinet, so as to be entirely out of the way when so desired."

"For those localities where electric current operation is not feasible the battery operated Radiola 16, is retained. Simple and compact in appearance, this receiver is designed for uncontrolled operation and employs the perfected RCA tuned radio frequency circuit with three stages of audio frequency amplification, detector, and two stages of audio frequency amplification.

"For those desiring an inexpensive socket-power set, there is Radiola 18, also incorporating the perfected tuned radio frequency circuit but arranged for AC radiotrons. The circuit includes three stages of radio-frequency amplification, detector, and two stages of audio frequency amplification."

If it is preferred this receiver may be had in a handsome console with hinged door and a self-enclosed loudspeaker of the improved type.

"In Loudspeaker 103, the Radio Corporation of America has created a new Loudspeaker which is not only an exceptional reproducer, but is also an ornamental masterpiece. The wood fiber frame and pedestal are moulded to resemble hand-carved oak. This frame is many times stronger than one actually carved out of wood and it is not susceptible to variations in temperature or moisture which might crack or warp an ordinary wood frame. A beautiful tapestry medallion conceals the mechanism of Loudspeaker 103 and completes the decorative design of the instrument."

"Loudspeaker 100-A is also retained for use with table model receivers. It is clock-shaped, pleasing and symmetrical in design and has a dull bronze finish. Several new principles are embodied in this loudspeaker including a seven inch cone consisting of specially prepared corrugated paper which prevents rattling and greatly improves its acoustic properties."

"With every consideration of purse, location and operation adequately met," concludes the announcement, "the new apparatus represents the culmination of eight years of unremitting research, engineering and production since the first radio program was placed on the air."

DENVER VICE SQUAD WOULD TAKE CHILDREN FROM BOOTLEGGING PARENTS

Claims Parents Contribute to Delinquency of Children When They Violate Liquor Laws.

DENVER, Aug. 22.—Sergt. E. C.
Young, head of the Denver police department's vice squad, believes that parents who engage in illegal traffic in liquor should not have custody of their children.

He has instituted proceedings to take Esther, 10, and Susie, 6, from their mother, Mrs. Beatrice Rael, 38, who is serving a thirty day jail sentence following conviction of a charge of selling a pint of liquor to a police "undercover" man.
Sergeant Young bases his authority for the action on the assumption that parents who traffic in liquor against the law contribute to the delinquency of their children. He pointed out that many times the children are even used for "blinds" for the parents in their illicit traffic.

The two children of Mrs. Rael are being cared for in the Denver Detention Home while their mother is serving the jail term. When the mother is released, according to Sergeant Young, an attempt will be made to bring the children from their mother.
The proceedings faced by Mrs. Rael bring to light a new angle in enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment, and, if successful in depriving the women of her children, police officials declare, similar action will be taken against all parents found guilty of violating the prohibition laws.

London's Pigeon War Reduces Birds by 2,000

LONDON.—The great war against pigeons, waged by the London authorities because the birds were becoming too numerous has ended, and now there are 2,000 less than before.

A time limit of three months had been set for the extermination but the pigeons so successfully eluded any attempts upon their lives, that it required six months to get rid of 2,000 of them.
There was great opposition to the extermination, many lovers of animals protesting against the action.
The loss of 2,000, which never fail to attract the visitors from overseas.

Although automobiles and trucks growing in number in Haiti, the natives still carry their products to market on their heads.

Mystery at Styles

A Mystery Serial That Defies Solution

BY AGATHA CHRISTIE

"In fact, during the whole afternoon you were only alone for a couple of minutes, and it happened—I say, it happened—to be during those two minutes that you displayed your 'natural interest' in Hydro-chloride of Strychnine?"

Lawrence stammered pitifully.

"I—"

With a satisfied and expressive countenance, Sir Ernest observed:

"I have nothing more to ask you, Mr. Cavendish."

CHAPTER 35.

The cross-examination of Lawrence had caused great excitement in court. The heads of the many fashionably attired women present were busily laid together, and their whispers became so loud that the judge angrily threatened to have the court cleared if there was not immediate silence.

There was little more evidence. The hand-writing experts were called upon for their opinion of the signature of "Alfred Inglethorp" in the chemist's poison register. They all declared unanimously that it was certainly not his hand-writing, and gave it as their view that it might be that of the prisoner disguised. Cross-examined, they admitted that it might be the prisoner's hand-writing cleverly counterfeited.

Sir Ernest Heavywether's speech in opening the case for the defense was not a long one, but it was backed by the full force of his emphatic manner. Never, he said, in the course of his long experience, had he known a charge of murder rest on slighter evidence. Not only was it entirely circumstantial, but the greater part of it was practically unproved.

Let them take the testimony they had heard and sift it impartially. The strychnine had been found in a drawer in the prisoner's room. That drawer was an unlocked one, as he had pointed out, and he submitted that there was no evidence to prove that it was the prisoner who had concealed the poison there. It was, in fact, a wicked and malicious attempt on the part of some third person to fix the crime on the prisoner.

The prosecution had been unable to produce a shred of evidence in support of their contention that it was the prisoner who ordered the black beard from Parkinson's. The quarrel which had taken place between prisoner and his stepmother was freely admitted, but both it and his financial embarrassments had been grossly exaggerated.

His learned friend—Sir Ernest nodded carelessly at Mr. Phillips—had stated that if prisoner were an innocent man, he would have come forward at the inquest to explain that it was he, and not Mr. Inglethorp, who had been the participant in the quarrel. He thought the facts had been misrepresented.

What had actually occurred was this. The prisoner, returning to the house on Tuesday evening, had been authoritatively told that there had been a violent quarrel between Mr. and Mrs. Inglethorp.

No suspicion had entered the prisoner's head that anyone could possibly have mistaken his voice for that of Mr. Inglethorp. He naturally concluded that his stepmother had had two quarrels.

The prosecution averred that on Monday, July 16th, the prisoner had entered the chemist's shop in the village disguised as Mr. Inglethorp. The prisoner, on the contrary, was at that time at a lonely spot called Marston's Spinney, where he had been summoned by an anonymous note, couched in blackmailing terms, and threatening to reveal certain matters to his wife unless he complied with its demands.

The prisoner had accordingly, gone to the appointed spot, and after waiting there vainly for half an hour had returned home. Unfortunately, he had met with no one on the way there or back who could vouch for the truth of his story, but luckily he had kept the note, and it would be produced as evidence.

As for the statement relating to the destruction of the will, the prisoner had formerly practiced at the Bar, and was perfectly well aware that the will made in his favour a year before was automatically revoked by his stepmother's remarriage. He would call evidence to show who did destroy the will, and it was possible that it might open up quite a new view of the case.

Finally, he would point out to the jury that there was evidence against other people besides John Cavendish. He would direct their attention to the fact that the evidence against Mr. Lawrence Cavendish was quite as strong, if not stronger than that against his brother.

He would now call the prisoner.

John acquitted himself well in the witness-box. Under Sir Ernest's skilful handling, he told his tale credibly and well. The anonymous note received by him was produced, and handed to the jury to examine. The readiness with which he admitted his financial difficulties, and the disagreement with his stepmother, lent value to his denials.

At the close of his examination, he paused, and said: "I should like to make one thing clear. I utterly reject and disapprove of Sir Ernest Heavywether's insinuations against my brother. My brother, I am convinced, had no more to do with the crime than I had."

Sir Ernest merely smiled, and noted with a sharp eye that John's protest had produced a very favourable impression on the jury.

Then the cross-examination began.

"Understand you to say that it never entered your head that the witnesses at the inquest could possibly have mistaken your voice for that of Mr. Inglethorp. Is not that every surprising?"

"No, I don't think so. I was told there had been a quarrel between my mother and Mr. Inglethorp, and it never occurred to me that such was not really the case."

"Not when the servant Dorcas repeated certain fragments of the conversation—fragments which you must have recognized."

"I did not recognize them."

"Your memory must be unusually short!"

"No, but we were both angry, and, I think, said more than we meant. I paid very little attention to my mother's actual words."

Mr. Phillips's incredulous sniff was a triumph of forensic skill. He passed on the subject of the note.

"You have produced this note very opportunely. Tell me, is there nothing familiar about the hand-writing of it?"

"Not that I know of."

"Do you not think that it bears a marked resemblance to your own hand-writing—carelessly distinguished?"

"No, I do not think so."

"I put it to you that it is your own hand-writing!"

"No."

"It is not a fact that, at the time you claim to have been waiting about at a solitary and unfrequented spot, you were really in the chemist's shop in Styles St. Mary, where you purchased strychnine in the name of Alfred Inglethorp?"

"No, that is a lie."

"I put it to you that, wearing a suit of Mr. Inglethorp's clothes, with a black beard trimmed to resemble his, you were there—and signed the register in his name!"

After this, as it was growing late, the case was adjourned till Monday.

Poirot, I noticed, was looking profoundly discouraged. He had that little frown between the eyes that I knew so well.

"What is it, Poirot?" I inquired.

"Ah, mon ami, things are going badly, badly."

In spite of myself, my heart gave a leap of relief. Evidently there was a likelihood of John Cavendish being acquitted.

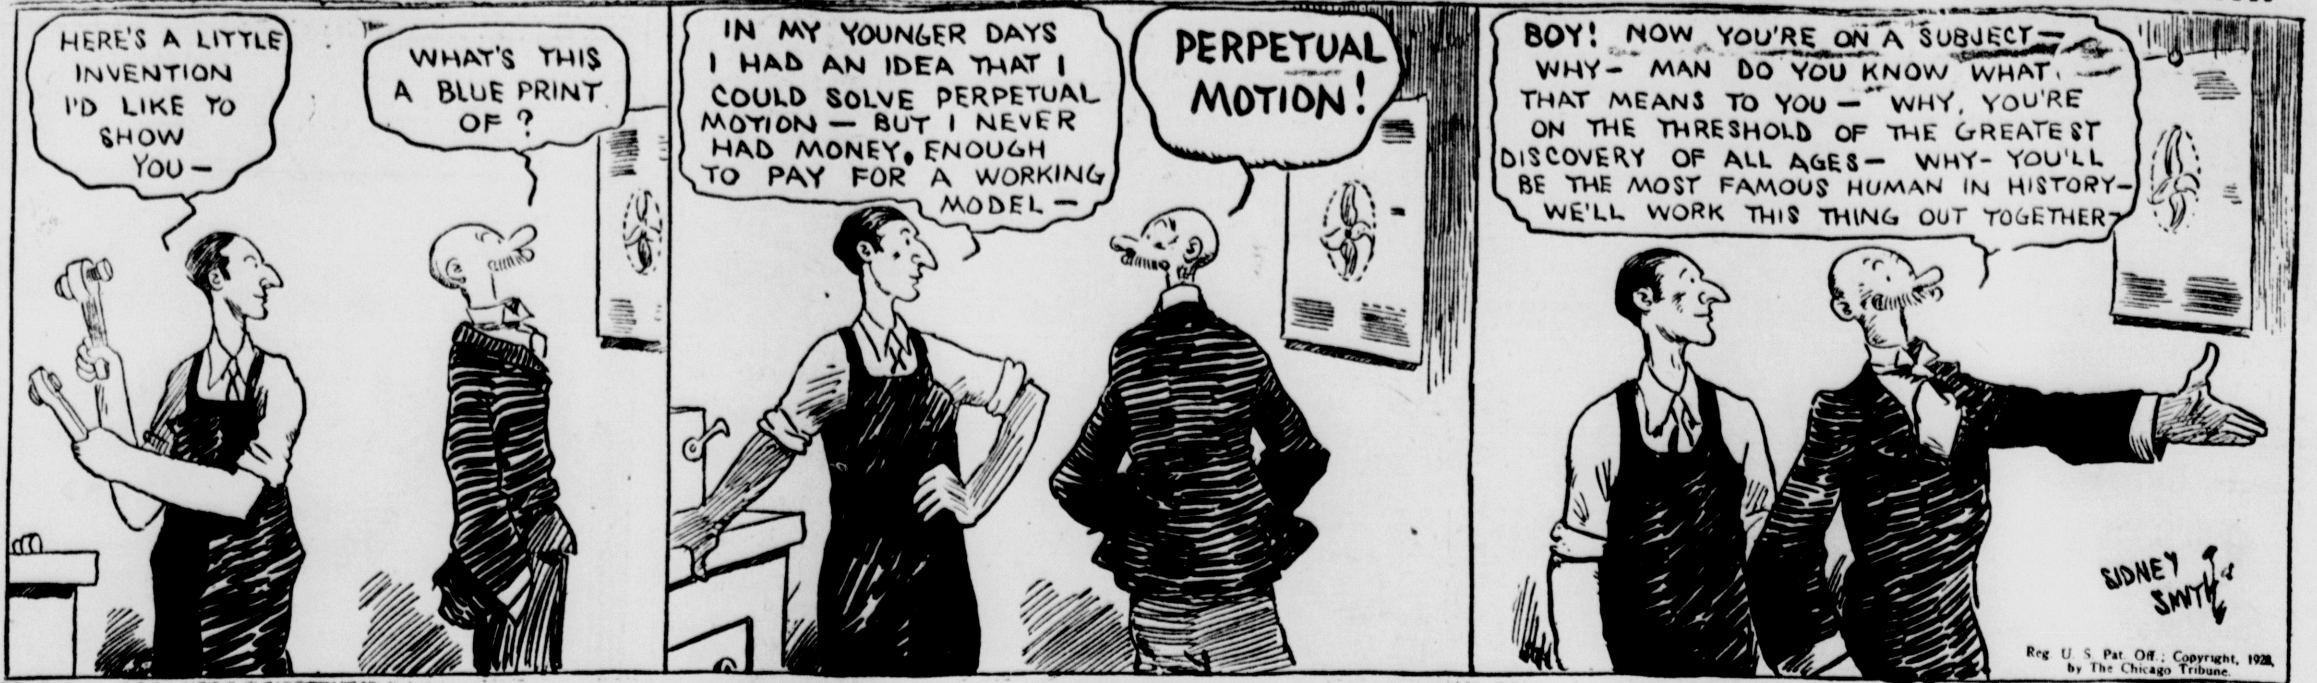

When we reached the house, my little friend waved aside Mary's offer to tea.

"No, I thank you, madame. I will mount to my room."

I followed him. Still frowning, he went across to the desk and took out a small pack of patience cards. Then he drew up a chair to the table, and, to my utter amazement, began solemnly to build card houses!

ESTELLE STARS IN "HONOR BOUND"

One of the biggest problems facing the modern woman is that of successfully combining marriage and a career. In view of this, it is interesting to have the viewpoint of Estelle Taylor, who, as most everyone knows, has been married to Jack Dempsey for over two years.

for a woman to have interests outside her home and still be a successful wife but has proved the point by her own experience. Her ideas are in direct contrast to most stars of the screen who maintain that temperament does not harmonize with domestic felicity.

Miss Taylor, besides being one of the best liked actresses on the screen, is known to be a great pal to her famous husband. Her latest role is the feminine lead in Fox Films "Honor Bound," opposite the popular George O'Brien. This production is now showing at the Ceramic theater.

TALKING DRAMA DRAWS BIG CROWD

American theater audiences are vociferously sounding their appreciation of "Lights of New York," Warner Bros' first full-length all-Vita-phone production, which was written by Hugh Herbert and Murray Roth and directed by Bryan Foy. Helene Costello and Cullen Landis head the all-star cast which includes Gladys Brockwell, Mary Carr, Wheeler Oakman, Eugene Fallette, Robert Elliott, Tom Dugan, Tom McGuire, Guy D'Enery, Walter Fervial and Jere Delaney.

The thrilling and intensely human story of "Lights of New York," has to do with two young lovers who, weary of the home town, seeking opportunity for fame and fortune in Manhattan. Landing on pitiless Broadway, the girl, as a night club entertainer, the youth the keeper of—not the innocent barber shop he had been inveigled into buying—but a bottle-ging joint.

Then begin the complications which include the shooting of a policeman, the betrayal of the young man into the hands of the police, the strange killing of night club proprietor, whose taking off is explained by the haggard Molly Thompson whom he has cast off and the reuniting of the lovers. This picture will close its week run here Saturday.

Nearly 10,000,000 handkerchiefs were sent from Porto Rico to the United States in the past 12 months.

GULBRANSEN GRAND

For the Woman Who Takes Pride In Her Home

The desire to have the home furnished in a cosy, up-to-date manner—even at any cost—is as old as the hills.

From time immemorial, housewives have gloried in the appearance of their homes and their ambitions are ever toward its betterment. Even then, the acquisition of the musical instrument, then in vogue, was a point of distinction, and was sought after by every home loving woman.

Today, it is but little different. Styles have changed, 'tis true; furniture of new design has replaced the old kind. Draperies and floor coverings are a bit more colorful and cheery, but the one outstanding fact remains the same. A musical instrument, preferably a Gulbransen Grand, is absolutely essential—if the home is to be correctly styled in keeping with the modern age.

And today, that instrument is the Gulbransen Grand Piano, peerless as an object of beauty, unequalled and far superior to any instrument to be found in the musical world.

Think it over—realize what a difference the Gulbransen Grand would mean to your home—then come in and we will show you the most beautiful models on which you ever laid your eyes, and they're priced within reason, too.

We Have A GULBRANSEN PIANO For Every Home. And At A Price To Suit Every Purse.

Smoking Blamed for Costly Forest Fires

One Third of Fires in Woods Can be Traced to Discarded Cigar Butts Report Says.

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 24.—Smoking comes high in Oregon and Washington, according to forest service officials here who declare that more than a third of all man-caused forest fires started in the national forest of these states are traceable to discarded cigar or cigarette butts.

With a total of 232 man-caused fires recorded so far this season, 100 of them were started by careless smokers, according to their records.

Statistics compiled by the forest service brand the careless smoker as one of the most dangerous firebugs the country has to contend with. Every time he throws a burning cigarette into dry grass or needles on the forest floor he gives the fire demon odds of one to nine that it won't start a fire.

OUT FOR G. O. P.

Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of the former Pennsylvania governor, is working for the Republican presidential campaign among the women of the Keystone state, who, she reports, are demanding large quantities of Hoover literature.

Tests have been made by officials of the United States bureau of standards to determine the fire hazard from smoking materials. They were made by dropping lighted cigar and cigarette butts in prepared mats which contained combustible materials similar to forest undergrowth.

Fanned By Air.

Air traveling at velocity from one to twelve miles an hour would then be blown over the set to determine ignition frequency under different conditions.

It was found materials ignited most readily under a gentle three-to-four mile wind. Out of 95 tests made 85 per cent ignited. The butts would burn for half an hour in some cases while the longest interval necessary to ignite the mat was only nine minutes.

Foresters maintain the little white flag to be the deadliest enemy of the national forests.
